
Skyscrapers in the central business district rise behind one of many tennis courts in Melbourne Park, where the city hosts the Australian Open each year in January.

Tap here to see full Image