

21-2038

The Secretary of State presents his compliments to Their Excellencies and Messieurs and Mesdames the Chiefs of Mission and refers to services provided to the diplomatic and consular community by the Department of State's Office of Foreign Missions (OFM). The purpose of this note is to inform Missions of the updated procedures for requesting "Non-Eligibility Letters" used to obtain motor vehicle services from the applicant's state of residence. This note supersedes notes No. 13-965, dated October 18, 2013, and 16-1205, dated August 5, 2016.

The Missions are reminded that the following persons, unless they are U.S. citizens, legal permanent residents, considered locally engaged staff, or ineligible members of household (e.g. in-laws, overage children, etc...) are required to receive driver's licenses or non-driver identification cards, and motor vehicle registration services from OFM:

- Diplomatic agents and their eligible dependents
- Administrative and technical staff and their eligible dependents
- Embassy service staff and their eligible dependents
- Consular officers and their eligible dependents
- Consular employees and their eligible dependents

- Consular service staff and their eligible dependents
- International organization personnel and their dependents who enjoy full privileges and immunities

‘A’ and ‘G’ visa holders who are not required to receive services from OFM must apply for such services from the department of motor vehicle or affiliated local motor vehicle agency in their state of residence (collectively referred to as ‘local jurisdiction’ herein). The local jurisdictions require ‘A’ and ‘G’ visa holders who are not required to seek OFM’s services to present a “Non-Eligibility Letter” to request motor vehicle services in accordance with the local jurisdiction’s laws, regulations, and standard procedures.

Individuals with personal identification numbers (PID)

Missions are informed that, effective immediately, all requests must be submitted using the Department’s e-Gov system. The Embassy and its consular posts or international organizations in the United States must have an employee certified to submit e-Gov applications to the Department. Detailed information concerning eligibility and how to request an e-Gov account can be found at: <https://egov.ofm.state.gov/Home/RequestAccess>. E-Gov may be accessed at <https://egov.ofm.state.gov>. Once the non-eligibility letter application is processed, it will be sent directly to the individual’s email address on record, which is valid for 90-days. A renewal letter will be automatically sent via email to the individual each year thereafter if the status and name on visa foil have not changed.

Mission requests must include the applicant's PID, full name and date of birth as they appear on the U.S. visa, applicant's email address, and the complete residential address of the applicant in the United States. The U.S. visa on file with OFM must be up to date. Missions should ensure that any necessary Notifications of Change for the individual are accepted prior to submitting the request for Non-Eligibility Letter. Non-Eligibility letters will only be issued for individuals who are 16 and older.

All individuals who require a replacement letter due to loss, expiration, name or address change, must also apply for the replacement letter through their mission point of contact via e-Gov.

The Missions are informed that requests for Non-Eligibility Letters submitted after the individual's termination will not be accepted.

U.S. Government Agency-Sponsored personnel and individuals without a PID

Missions are further informed that effective immediately, non-eligible 'A' and 'G' visa holders with U.S. Government Agency-sponsored assignments, (e.g. Department of Defense, Federal Reserve, etc...) and individuals not associated with a foreign mission or international organization and therefore not eligible for a PID will be issued letters directly by the sponsoring agency. Requests and questions concerning Non-Eligibility Letters for individuals in U.S. Government Agency-sponsored positions should be directed to the sponsoring agency. OFM will not generate letters for these individuals.

In the Washington Metropolitan Area, please direct any questions to OFM-Policy@state.gov. If you are located outside of the Washington Metropolitan area, please contact the nearest OFM Regional office. Contact details for OFM Regional Offices may be found on OFM's website at <https://www.state.gov/contact-us-office-of-foreign-missions/>.
