

THAILAND

Scores for Select Global Health Security Technical Areas

The U.S. has partnered with Thailand on Global Health Security (GHS) since 2015.

First Joint External Evaluation (JEE) conducted in 2017 and a follow-up was done in 2022.

The U.S. Government (USG) GHS Program in Thailand

The U.S. Government partners with the Government of Thailand to strengthen capacities to prevent, detect, and respond to infectious disease threats.

USG's Global Health Security investments also support more resilient health systems, including training human and animal health workers, strengthening laboratories and international borders, and bolstering surveillance systems. These investments support and build on those made by the Government of Thailand, in coordination with other partners and stakeholders.

Current and planned GHS activities reflect national priorities, build on best available data, and align with the country context and health system.
