

Report to Congress on U.S. Contributions to International Organizations, Fiscal Year 2022

Section 4(b) of the United Nations Participation Act (22 U.S.C. § 287b(b)) calls for the Secretary of State to submit an annual report to Congress on the extent and disposition of all financial contributions in any amount made by the United States during the preceding year to international organizations in which the United States participates as a member.

Section 312 of the Department of State Authorities Act, Fiscal Year (FY) 2017 (P.L. 114-323, "FY 2017 Authorities Act") further requires the Director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to submit to Congress a report on all assessed and voluntary contributions with a value greater than $100,000, including in-kind contributions, of the U.S. government to the United Nations and its affiliated agencies and related bodies during the previous fiscal year.

This report addresses both reporting requirements by describing U.S. government contributions and other funding of any amount for international organizations and multilateral entities (including the UN and its affiliated agencies) for fiscal year 2022. The report includes funding in support of certain multilateral entities that are not generally considered international organizations. The format of this report is similar to previous reports on contributions for FY 2018, FY 2019, FY 2020, and FY 2021. It includes the source of funds (including federal agency and account) and a concise description of the purpose of such funding.

The report also includes information on total funding from all sources for organizations in the UN System and the percentage of that total that U.S. contributions represent. Note, the grand total of contributions under Section 312 does not match that of contributions tabulated for Section 4(b) since the former is limited to contributions to U.N. and affiliated agencies and the latter covers the entirety of contributions to all international organizations. In addition, it specifies what the Department considers contributions and other funding to be assessed, as required by Section 312 of the FY 2017 Authorities Act.

This report includes fiscal year 2022 U.S. government funding. Some of the information contained was provided by other Executive Branch agencies identified in the report. Not all Executive Branch agencies provided information for inclusion in the report. The Office of Management and Budget assisted with the collection of information in the report and will also submit this report to Congress and post the report on its website consistent with the FY 2017 Authorities Act.

Information on total funding for all sources was not available when the Department produced this report. The amounts of total funding will be obtained from publicly available documents produced by the UN System Chief Executives Board (UNSCEB) or the recipient entities, which are not yet published. The Department will update this report when the information becomes available, which we anticipate will be in the latter part of 2023.

The information provided on U.S. government funding includes financial and in-kind support, including assessed contributions, voluntary contributions, grants, and other financial assistance to international organizations and multilateral entities. For each entry, the report provides specific information, including: the responsible U.S. government agency and bureau, the account that was the source of the funding, the recipient entity, a description of the purpose of the activity that the funding supported, the amount obligated, and whether the Department considers the amount provided to be an assessed contribution. In some instances, the amounts presented are negative. These negative amounts reflect de-obligations of funds previously obligated, including in prior fiscal years. This report includes all obligations and de-obligations made in fiscal year 2022.

This report does not contain information on contracts for goods or services provided to the U.S. government, the cost to the U.S. government of the salaries and expenses of American employees detailed to the secretariats of international organizations, or the costs of reimbursing international organizations for taxes that American citizens and legal permanent residents employed by the organizations pay to U.S. federal, state, and local governments. Contributions to international financial institutions such as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development are not included in this report but are the subject of a separate report to the Congress by the National Advisory Council on International Monetary and Financial Policies.

Once submitted to Congress, this report and annexes will be posted to the Department of State's public-facing website.

Overview

In FY 2022, the U.S. government provided over $21 billion to 179 international organizations and multilateral entities. Over 93 percent of this funding came from the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) and the U.S. Department of State, with the remaining funds from the U.S. Department of Defense and 20 other agencies.

Figure 1: U.S Contributions to International Organization by Agency, FY 2022

U.S. Contributions to International Organizations by Agency, FY 2022

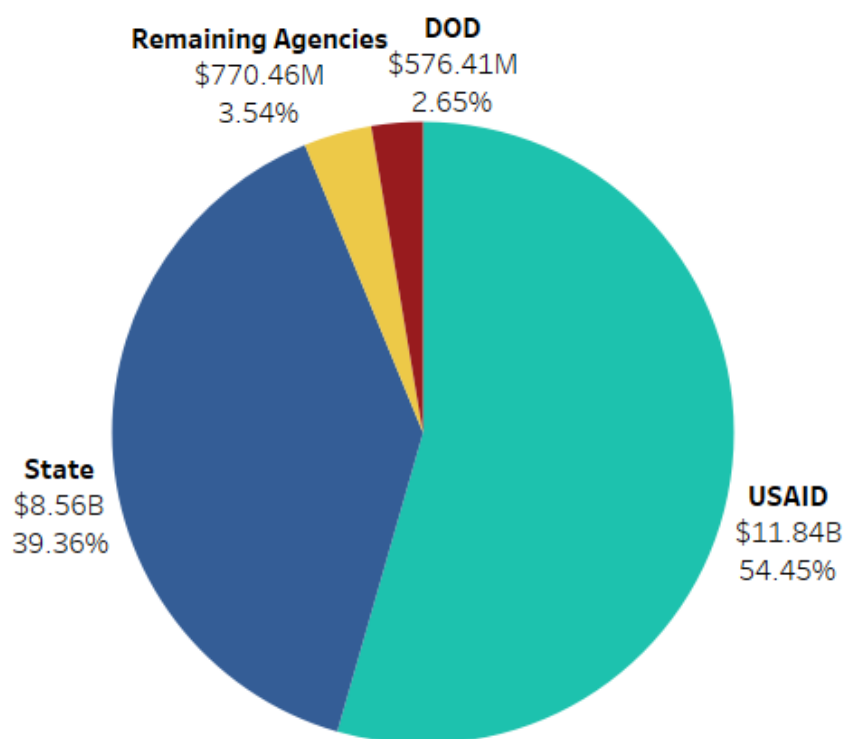

Table 1: U.S Contributions to International Organization by Agency, FY 2022

Agency	Share of Total	Contribution Amount
U.S. Agency for International Development	54.45%	$ 11,843,326,191.89
U.S. Department of State	39.36%	$ 8,516,259,793.51
U.S. Department of Defense	2.65%	$ 669,469,000.00
Remaining Agencies	3.54%	$ 770,623,791.48

For the purpose of this overview, funding for international organizations is categorized as either assessed or voluntary, with grants and other types of funding treated as voluntarily provided funding. Using this categorization, voluntarily provided funding comprises 85 percent of total U.S. government funding for international organizations and multilateral entities. Assessed contributions make up the remaining 15 percent.

Figure 2: U.S Contributions to International Organization by Agency, FY 2022

U.S. Contributions to International Organizations by Agency and Award Type, FY 2022

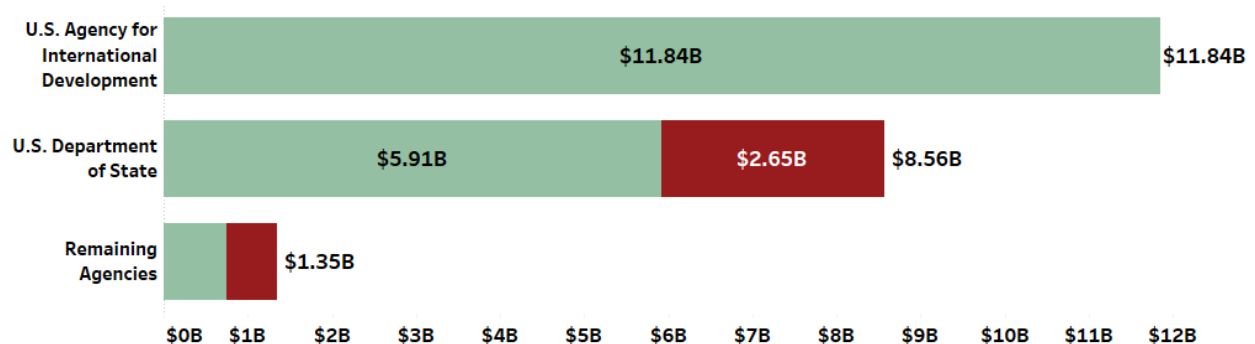

Table 2: U.S Contributions to International Organization by Agency and Award, FY 2022

Agency	Award Type	Contribution Amount
U.S. Agency for International Development	Voluntary Contributions	$ 5,864,841,359.29
U.S. Department of State	Voluntary Contributions	$ 11,843,326,191.89
U.S. Department of State	Assessed Contributions	$ 2,651,418,434.22
Remaining Agencies	Voluntary Contributions	$ 752,489,841.58
Remaining Agencies	Assessed Contributions	$ 594,539,048.97

In FY 2022, out of 179 total international organization and multilateral entity recipients, the top 10 recipients received 81 percent of total U.S. government funding.

Figure 3: U.S Contributions to top 10 International Organizations, FY 2022

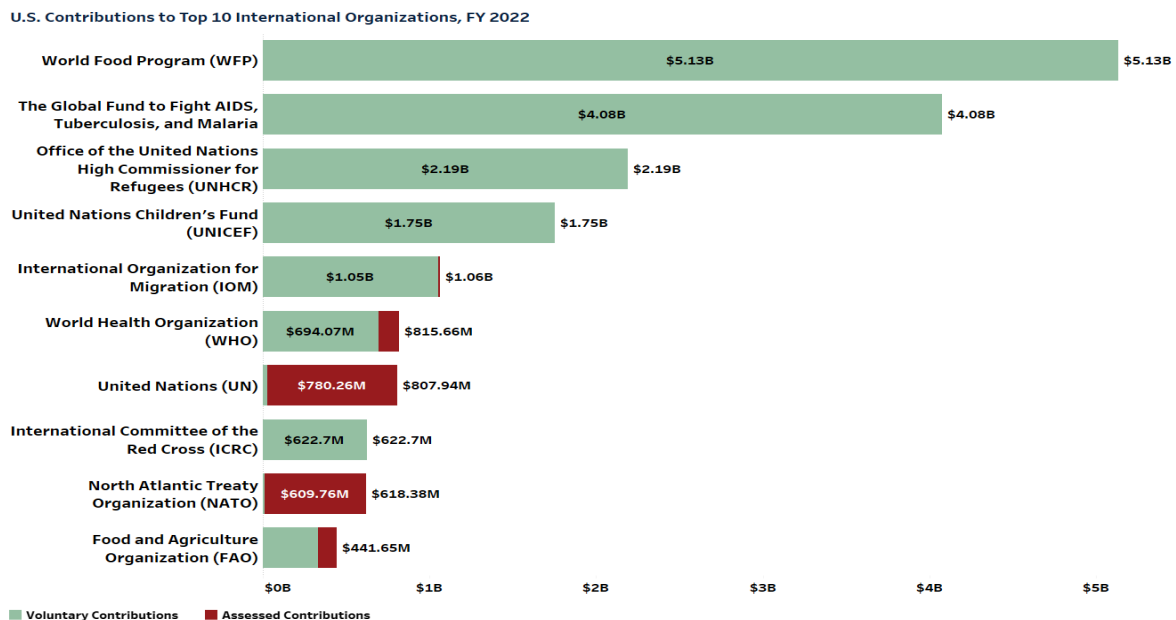

Table 3: U.S Contributions to top 10 International Organizations, FY 2022

IO Name Acronym	Contribution Amount
World Food Program (WFP)	$ 5,133,980,643.19
The Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria	$ 4,075,500,000.00
Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR)	$ 2,190,648,509.00
United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF)	$ 1,749,996,056.86
International Organization for Migration (IOM)	$ 1,063,037,121.02
United Nations (UN)	$ 837,253,145.24
World Health Organization (WHO)	$ 815,656,241.78
International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC)	$ 622,700,000.00
North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO)	$ 711,441,349.45
Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO)	$ 441,652,535.69

More information and data are available in the annexes of this report.